PREFACE

WHILE I was preparing the Descriptive Catalogue of the Mss. of the B. B. R. A. S., Bombay, I found that the then available information about the extent and nature of Jain Literature was rather megre. So, I decided to compile a Catalogue Catalogorum on the lines of Aufrecht's great work. I actually began my work in the month of December, 1923 and succeeded in acquiring reliable lists of Mss. preserved in the various Jain Bhandars throughout India. The lists of the Śvetāmbara Bhandars were obtained by me through many of my friends, prominently among whom must be mentioned the late Mr. K. P. Modi, Advocate of Ahmedabad, Shri Indravijaya Suri Maharaj of Shivpuri, Gwalior, Mr. M. D. Desai, Advocate of Bombay, Dr. T. L. Shah, of Baroda, and Mr. K. H. Javeri, Cloth Merchant of Bombay. On the other hand, I got the lists of the Digambara Bhandars from the Ailak Pannalal Digambara Jain Sarasvati Bhuvan at Bhuleshvar, Bombay : but very often Pandit Nathuram Premi, the Jain Bookseller and Publisher of Hirabag, Bombay, helped me materially in securing lists and also in various other ways. I take this opportunity of expressing my deep gratitude to all these gentlemen and institutions.

I was unable to visit and personally inspect the Jain Bhandars in Gujrat and Central India in spite of the very noble offer of help made to me by the Jain Śvetāmbara conference of Bombay, for various reasons which include those of health and circumstances. As regards the Digambara Bhandars, a visit to these by a Non-Jain is still out of question. It is, therefore, not impossible that a number of statements made in this Kośa may be found inaccurate. I do not disown responsibility in all such cases and in all humility apologize to the reader for the inconvenience and mental uneasiness which may be caused to him ; for, I am fully conscious that my own ignorance and negligence might have been as much responsible for this state of affairs as the inaccurate statements existing in the lists themselves.

Unlike Aufrecht, I am listing the works and the authors separately. Thus in this First Volume of the Jinaratnakośa, a list of Jain works alone will be found ; while, I propose to give the list of the authors in the Second Volume. I have purposely restricted myself to Jain works written in the Sanskrit and the Prakrit languages including the Apabhraṁśa, though I have occasionally mentioned some old Gujrati commentaries and works.

Jain Literature is written in at least three different provincial languages, namely, Gujrati, Hindi, and Kannaḍa. Of these, the works composed by the Jain poets in Gujrati are listed, described, and illustrated admirably by Mr. M. D. Desai, Advocate, Bombay in the two volumes of his 'Jaina Gurjara Kavio', 1925, and 1931. A similar attempt is made by R. Narasimhācārya in his Karṇāṭakakavicarite, Vols. I to III, Bangalore, 1924 etc. This latter work is of course conceived on a different plan ; in it greater importance is attached to the poets than to their works, so that the manuscripts of the works are rarely mentioned, if at all. In the case of Jain literature written in Hindi, I am not aware of any such sustained attempt to give a full account of either the authors or their works. It is indeed desirable that lists of the works and authors of Jain literatuie written in the three languages mentioned above should be prepared as early as possible to complete the picture attempted in and started by the Jinaratnakośa; but I find that I am unable to do this at present at least, because I know nothing at all of the Kannaḍa language.

Lastly, I think, I shall be failing in my duty if I do not mention the chief source of my inspiration in the preparation of this Jinaratnakośa. My Guru, the late Professor H. M. Bhadkamkar of Wilson College, had repeatedly expressed a desire to prepare some work resembling the 'Vedic Index' of Macdonell and Keith (Guru and Śiṣya), in collaboration with me, his humble pupil, and this was when I was yet to pass my first degree examination. Owing to my misfortune, however, my Guru passed away only six months after I got my B. A. degree and left me all alone to carry out his desire. Ever since that time (May, 1915), I have tried to be a worthy pupil of his, both in my work at the college and in the field of research, and have steadily kept in view the fulfilment of his desire mentioned above. The present work is the first fruit of my attempts, awkward and imperfect though it is, and I humbly offer it to the Spirit of my Guru!

(85) PAP. This and the next eight lists are the lists of the famous Patan Bhandars. They are on the whole, carefully prepared and the information given in them is usually accurate. I got them all through the Jain Svetāmbara Conference, Bombay. PAP. is the list of the Bhandar called the Sangha Bhandar at Pofalia Wada, Vakhatji Sheri, at Patan. This contains 79 Dabhdas, and is quoted by Dabhdas and Pothis.

(86) PAPL. This is the list of the Limdi Pada branch of the above mentioned Singha Bhandar. It has only 9 Dabhdas and is quoted by Dabhdas and Pothis.

(87) PAPM. A list of the Mss. in the New Saugha Bhandar in the Vakhatji Sheri, Pofalia Wada, Patan. These are all Palm leaf Manuscripts. Quoted by Bundles and Pothis.

(88) PAPR. A List of the Paper Mss. in the same New Sangha Bhandar. Quoted by Dabhdas and Pothis similarly.

(89) PAPS. A list of the Mss. in the Bhandar at the Agali Sheri, Pofalia Wada, Patan. Quoted by Dabhdas and Pothis.

(90) PAS. A list of the Mss. in the Bhandar of Lodhi Posala Sanghavi Pada, Patan. This is a very valuable collection of Palm-leaf Manuscripts about 500 in number. Most of them are worn out. Quoted by serial numbers. The Mss. from this collection are also described at Patan Catalogue (Gaek. O. S. No. 76), pp. 1–258.

(91) Patan Cat. A Descriptive Catalogue of Mss. in the Jain Bhandar at Patan, Vol. I (Palm leaf Mss.), published by the Oriental Institute, Baroda, 1937.

(92) PAZA. A list of old and valuable Mss. though on paper, in Sha Chunilal Mulji's Bhandar, Zaveri Wada, Patan. Quoted by Dabhdas and Pothis.

(93) PAZB. A list of Mss. in the Vadi Pārśvanātha Pustaka Bhandar, at Zaveri Wada, Patan. Quoted by Bundles and Pothis.

(94) Pet. I and Pet. I. A. These are the Mss. listed and described in the First Report of Dr. Peterson. The collection is preserved at the Bhandarkar Institute and is known as the Collection A of 1882-83. Quoted by serial numbers. Pet. I. A. refers to the Appendix in the Report, which contains quotataons from important Jain works. The allusions are to the pages of this Appendix.

(95) Pet. II. A Second Report by Dr. Peterson, containing a list of Mss. acquired for the Bombay Govt. and a long introduction and extracts from important Mss. The collection, like other Government collections is preserved at Bhandarkar Institute, and is known as the Collection A of 1883-84. Quoted by serial numbers.

(96) Pet. III. and Pet. III. A. A Third Report by Dr. Peterson. The collection is known as the Collection of 1884-85. Quoted by serial numbers of the Mss. Pet. III. A. refers to the important Appendix of this Report, containing quotations from Manuscripts in the Śāntinātha Temple at Cambay, in continuation from the Appendix of the First Report. The Appendix also contains quotations from Jain works existing at other Jain Bhandars. The references to it are by pages.

(97) Pet. IV. and Pet. IV. A. A Fourth Report by Dr. Peterson. This collection is known as the Collection of 1886-1892. Quoted by serial numbers. This and the next two Reports contain not only an introduction and extracts from Mss., but also a full and very useful index of the Jain authors. References to the Appendix are by pages.

(98) Pet. V. and Pet. V. A. A Fifth Report by Dr. Peterson. The collection is known as the Collection of 1892-1895. Quoted by the serial numbers. Pet. V. A. refers to the three Appendices, containing extracts from Mss. in the Patan Bhandars, and Mss. in the collection itself. The allusion is to the pages.

(99) Pet. VI. and Pet. VI. A. A Sixth Report by Dr. Peterson. The collection is known as the Collection of 1895-1898. Quoted by the serial numbers. Pet. VI. A. refers to the Appendix containing extracts from the Mss. in the collection itself. The allusion is to the pages.

(100) PR. A Register of a few Praśastis of the Mss. in the possession of Seth Manekchand of Bombay. Supplied to me by Pandit Nathuram Premi, Jaina author and Book-seller of Hirabag, Bomby. The figures refer to the Serial numbers given in this unpublished Register.

(101) PRA. These are the Praśastis copied and collected from the different Jain Mss. by various Jain scholars, prominent among them being Sri Indravijayasūri of Gwalior, Shivpuri, and Dr. Tribhuvandas Shah of Bombay (now settled at Baroda). I have prepared my own notes from these and given them consecutive numbers for the sake of easy reference. I give below the numbers and after them within brackets, the name of the Bhandar, from the Mss. in which the Praśastis were copied. Thus, PRA. 1 refers to my note prepared from the Praśasti copied out from a Ms. in the Kāntivijayaji's Bhandar at Chani and so on. It is intended that it should be possible for the reader to verify my statement by a reference to the original Ms. from which the Praśasti was copied:—

(102) Punjab. A Catalogue of Mss. in the Punjab Jaina Bhandars, Part I, Lahore, 1939. Quoted by serial numbers.

(103) Rice. A Catalogue of Sanskrit Mss. in Mysore and Koorg, compited by Rice, and published at Bangalore, 1884. Quoted by pages.

(104) SA. A list of the Mss. in the Jainānanda Bhandar at Gopipura, Surat. Obtained through the late Mr. Mody. Quoted by serial numbers.

(105) Samb. A List of 483 Mss. written on paper, the oldest being dated Saṁvat 1246, preserved in the temple of Sambhavnatha, which forms part of the great Parshvanatha temple, Jesalmir. Prepared by the late Mr. C. D. Dalal. Obtained through the late Mr. K. P. Mody of Ahmedabad.

(106) SB. A printed list of the Mss. in the Mohanlal Bhandar at Surat. The Mss. are kept in two cupboards and the reference is to the Cupboards and the Bundles.

(107) SG. and SGR. A list of the Mss. kept at the Pannalal Jain Sarasvati Bhavan, Bhuleshvara, Bombay. The figures refer to the general numbers which are given to them at the library. The authorities of this Bhavan have collected lists of Mss. in the various Digambar Bhandars throughout India. I was allowed to make use of these and I gratefully acknowledge their help. So far, five Reports with useful extracts from Mss. are published on behalf of the Bhavan and SGR. refers to these Reports by pages. Also see No. (33).

(108) SRA. A list of the Mss. in the private Bhandar of Bhattarakaji, at Sravan Belgula. Quoted by the Bundles.

(109) SRB. A list of the Mss. in the private Bhandar of Daurbali Jinadas of Sravan Belgula. Quoted by the Bundles.

(110) Strass. (a). A list of the Mss. in the library at Strassburg, prepared by E. Leumann and published in the Vienna Oriental Journal, vol. XI. 1897, p. 279 ff. Quoted by pages. The Mss. are of Digambara works.

(111) Strass. (b). A similar List of the Śvetāmbara Mss., published in Ubersicht uber die Avaśyaka Literatur, Hamburg, 1934, p. III. Quoted by serial numbers given there.

(112) Surat. An alphabetical catalogue prepared by Mr. Kesarchand Hirachand Jhaveri, (cloth marchant, Mangaldas Market, Bombay), of all Mss. in the 11 different Bhandars at Surat. Unfortunately the list is rather vague and mentions after the name of the work, only the number of the Bhandar at Surat. The Mss. indeed can be easily traced, and besides, Mr. Jhaveri is an enthusiastic Jain citizen of Bombay, who readily assists scholars interested in Jainism. He has given the following numbers to the different Bhandars, and my references are to these:-1 Sri Jainananda Pustakalaya, Gopipura; 2 Sri Jinadattasuri Jnanabhandara, Gopipura; 3 Sri Mohanlal Jain Jnanabhandara, Gopipura; 4 Seth Nemachand Melapchand Jain Upasraya Library, Gopipura; 5 Hukam Muniji Jain Jnanabhandar, Gopipura; 6 Devchand Lalbhai Pustakoddhar Fund Library; 7 Mandirsvami Temple Library, Bada Chauta, Surat; 8 Jain Upasraya Library, Bada Chauta; 9 Cintamani Parsvanatha Temple Library, Sahapur, Surat; 10 Dharmanatha Temple Library of the Devasura Gaccha, Gopipura; 11 Adinatha Temple Library, Gopipura.

(113) Tapa. A List of the Mss. in the Tapa Gaccha Bhandar at Jesalmir, obtained through the Śvetāmbara Conference of Bombay. Quoted by the Bundles.

(114) Tera. A List of the Mss. in the Tera Panthi Bada Bhandar at Jaipur, obtained through the Sarasvati Jaina Bhavana of Bombay mentioned under No. (33). Quoted by the Bundles.

(115) VA. A List of the Mss. in the Bhandar of the Vimala Gaccha Upasraya, situated at Falusha's Pole, Ahmedabad and containing 18 Dabhadas having about 555 Mss. The references are to the Dabhdas and the Pothis. This and the next three lists were obatined through the late Mr. K. P. Mody.

(116) VB. A list of the Mss. in the Bhandar of the Vimala Gaccha Upasraya, situated at Haja Patel's Pole, Ahemedabad. It consists of 42 Dabhdas and contains about 1426 Manuscripts. Quoted by Dabhdas and Pothis.

(117) VC. A list of the Mss. in the Bhandar of the Vimala Gaccha Upasraya, situated at Ahemdabad. It is in the possession of Uddyotavimalagaṇi and contains about 360 Mss. kept in 15 Dabhdas. Quoted by Dabhdas and Pothis.

(118) VD. A list of the Mss. in the Bhandar of the Vimala Gaccha Upasraya, situated at the Haji Patel's Pole, Ahmedabad. This too is in the possession of Uddyotavimalagaṇi and contains about 347 Manuscripts kept in 15 Dabhdas. Quoted by Dabhdas and Pothis.

(119) Vel. A Descriptive Catalogue of the Mss. in the BBRAS., Town Hall, Bombay, prepared by H. D. Velaukar. It is in four volumes, published in 1925, 1928, and 1930. The references are to the serial numbers of the Mss. given to them in this Catalogue.

(120) Viś A list of Mss. in the Viśrāma Bāga Collection, now kept at the Bhandarkar Institute Quoted by the serial numbers.

(121) Weber. A discriptive Catalogue of the Berlin Mss. prepared by A. Weber. It is published in two volumes and the references are to the serial numbers of the Mss. given in the Catalogue.

✓अन्ययोगव्यवच्छेदद्वात्रिंशिका of Hemacandra. This is the second part of a hymn in praise of Jina. The first part is called Ayogavyavacchedadvātriṁśikā and contains an easy exposition of the doctrines of Jainism. The second part i. e. the present one, contains a refutation of the doctrins of the Non-Jain systems. The work with its commentary, the Syādvādamañjarī, is edited in B. S. Series by Prof.

A. B. Dhruva, Bombay, 1933. Both are also published by Motilal Ladhaji, Poona, Vir Saṁ. 2452 and by Bhairavdas Jethmal, Bikaner, Vir Saṁ. 2453 and in the Chowkhamba SK. Series, A. D. 1900. The Syādvādamañjarī is even published with Hindi Translation in RJS., Series, Bombay, 1910 A. D. (2nd ed. 1935 A.D.) and with Gujrati Translation by Hiralal Haṁsaraja, Jamnagar 1930 A. D. Each part of the hymn contains 32 stanzas as the name shows.

आचाराङ्गसूत्र is the first Aṅga of the Jain canon. It consists of two parts (Śrutaskandhas), the first of which is decidedly earlier than the second and treats of 'the proper conduct' (ācāra) of a Jain monk. The four chapters of the second part are called cūlās, i. e., appendices. The first Śrutaskandha is edited by W. Schubring, at Leipzig, 1910, and also for the Jaina Sahitya Saṁsodhaka Samiti, at Poona, 1924. The whole text along with the commentaries of Śilāṅka, Jinahaṁsa and Pārśvacandra and Bhadrabāhu's Niryukti, is published by Ray Dhanpatsinha Bahadur, Calcutta, Saṁ. 1936. The Āgamodaya Samiti, Surat, has also recently (Nos. 5 and 6 of the Series), published it with the Niryukti and Śilāṅka's commentary in Saṁ. 1972-73. It is translated into English by H. Jacobi, in the S. B. E. Series, Vol. 22. The first Śrutaskandha is translated into German by W. Schubring in 'Worte Mahaviras', Leipzig. 1926. Agra. (2) Tikā by Meghacandra. Mud. 201.

(3) Pradipa by Sakalakirti. This seems to be an independent work containing 12 chapters; cf. SGR. V. p. 52ff. AD. Nos. 135; 143; Bengal. No. 1470; CP. p. 681; Idar. 31 (2 copies); Idar A. 3 (2 copies); Kath. No. 1119; Lal. 125; Pet. III. No. 546; SG. No. 730; SRA. 283; 374.

(4) Tikā by Medhāvin. Bengal. No. 1521; this is probably a ms. of Vasunandin's commentary. Medhavin or Miha, pupil of Jinacandra had composed a Praśasti in Saṁ. 1516 for a ms. of Vasunandin's com., which was caused to be written by Padmasiṁha and presented to Narasiṁha in that year. Cf. Pet. II. A. pp 136-141. The Bengal ms. is obviously very closely related to this Ms. This Praśasti is also published along with the Sarvarthasiddhi of Vasunandin in the MDG. edition (Nos. 19 and 23) as it was found in both the mss. used for it.

J उपासकदशासूत्र is the seventh Aṅga of the Jain Canon. It is in 10 chapters as the name signifies and contains the lives of ten Jain laymen. It is edited and translated into English in the Bibliotheca Indica Series by Hoernle, Calcutta, 1885-88; It is also edited with Abhayadeva's commentary for Ray Bahadur Dhanapatisiṁha, Calcutta, 1876 and in the Āgamodaya Samiti Series, No. 28, Bombay, 1920. For a metrical version of this Sūtra, see Vardhamānadeśanā (III). The text of the Sūtra with introduction etc., is recently edited by Dr. P. L. Vaidya, Poona, 1930. Its Gujrati Translation by D. B. Kalelkar with an introduction is published in the Punjabhai Jain Granthamālā, No. 4, Ahmedabad, 1931.

औदार्यचिन्तामणि is the name of a commentary by Śrutasāgara on his own Prākṛta Vyākaraṇa. According to some, it is the name of the Vyakaraṇa itself. Śrutasāgara was the pupil of Vidyānandin, pupil of Devendrakīrti. Cf. J. H. Vol. 15, pp. 154, 155. The work consists of six chapters, out of which the first three are printed at Vizagapattam. Compare Upadhye, ABORI. XIII. pp. 52-43. CP. p. 630; SG. Nos. 1770 : 2420 : SRB. 202.

औपपातिकसूत्र is the first Upāṅga. It is edited with Introduction and Glossary by E. Leumann, Leipzig, 1883. It is also published with Abhayadeva's commentary in the Āgamasaṅgraha, Calcutta, 1880 and by the Āgamodaya Samiti, (Series No. 7), Bombay, 1916. It is in two parts and deals with the retribution of good and evil deeds. Agra. Nos. 156 : 157 ; 159 ; 160 ; 161 ; AM. 87 ; 116 ; 123 ; 139 ; 140 ; 252 ; 277 ; 320 ; 401 ; Bengal. कल्पसूत्र also called Paryuṣaṇākalpa, ascribed to Bhadrabāhu. It consists of three books called Jinacaritra, Sthavirāvalī and Sāmācārī, and itself forms the VIIIth section of the Daśāśrutaskandhasūtra. It is edited with a learned introduction by H. Jacobi, Leipzig, 1879, and is also translated into English by him in the S. B. E. Series, Vol. 22. It is also published with the commentaries of Dharmasāgara (in Saṁ. 1978) and Vinayavijaya and Lakṣmīvallabha (in Saṁ. 1975) by the JAS., Bhavnagar, and with Vinayavijaya's commentary in the DLP. Fund Series, Bombay, 1911, 1923. The text with beautiful picture-illustrations is again published by the DLP. Fund (Series No. 82), Bombay, 1933. The text with Jinaprabha's Sandehaviṣauṣadhi (com. No. 8) is published by Hiralal Haṁsaraj, Jamnagar, 1913. The text with Kalpadrumakalikā (com. No. 26) is published by Velji Shivji, Mandvi, Bombay, 1918.

√ कविदर्पण A work in Prakrta on Prākrta metres in five chapters. It is alluded to in Jinaprabha's commentary on Ajitaśantistava (in Sam. 1365). The author quotes a stanza from Hemacandra's Chandonuśasana, and mentions Kumārapāla in the illustrations of Ghattā and Kadava. He also quotes Prākrta verses from Jinasimhasūri, Sūraprabhasūri and Tilakasūri. I have edited the work along with its Vrtti from the single manuscript, namely, Kiel. II. No. 15, in the Annals, BORI., 1935. The author's name is not known.

(1) Vrtti. Anon. Kiel. II. No. 15. In this commentary three writers on Sanskrit metres i. e. Sūra, Pingala and Trilocanadasa and two writers on Prakrta meters i. e. Svayambhū and Manoratha, as also the Chandahkandali, a work on Prākrta metre, are mentioned and quoted. The commentary also quotes a verse from Pādaliptasūri.

कालिकाचार्यकथा the story of Kālaka or Kālika Ācārya, who transferred the date of the Paryuṣaṇā festival from the fifth to the fourth of the first half of the month of Bhādrapada. It is usually found at the end of the manuscripts of the Kalpasūtra. But independent copies of it also are not wanting. It exists in many recensions, some of which are in Sanskrit and others in Prākṛta. Almost all these recensions have been carefully examined and analysed by Prof. N. W. Brown in his Story of Kālaka, Washington, 1933.

(I) कालिकाचार्यकथा (अत्थि इहेव जम्बू) This version is in mixed prose and verse. It is mostly in Prākṛta, with a few stanzas in Sanskrit and Apabhraṁśa. This is styled as the 'Long Anonymous Version' by Brown and is edited with English translation from six mss., in the Story of Kālaka, at pp. 36–70. Brown considers this as the oldest version. JA. 107 (2); Pet. I. A. pp. 18; 51; 69; III. A. p. 26; Sangha Bhandar, Patan, Nos. 4 (2; palm ms. dated Saṁ. 1336); 7 (2; palm ms.); 47 (2; palm ms. dated Saṁ. 1344). All these are also the mss. of the Kalpasutra.

(II) कालिकाचार्यकथा (जो कुणइ ससत्तिए) This version contains about 153 Prākṛta stanzas. Saṅgha Bhandar, Patan, 6 (2). This also is a palm-leaf ms. of the Kalpasūtra; cf. Brown, Story of Kālaka, p. 26; also cf. Patan Cat. I. p. 389. Perhaps PAP. 11 (28) is a ms. of this version (ms. dated Saṁ. 1490).

(III) कालिकाचार्यकथा (उत्तुङ्गभद्दसाल) This version is in about 108 Prakṛta stanzas. Saṅgha Bhandar, Patan, 58 (2 ; a palm-leaf ms.) ; cf. Brown, p. 27.

(IV) कालिकाचार्यकथा (देविंदविंदनमियं) This version contains 85 Prākṛta stanzas. Saṅgha Bhandar, Patan, 2 (2; a palm-leaf ms. of the Kalpasūtra) ; cf. Brown, p. 28, and Patan Cat. I. p. 388. At Patan Cat. I. p. 261 (quo.), this version is ascribed to Vinayacandra, pupil of Raviprabha, and contains only 78 Prākṛta verses. This author had assisted Udayasiṁha in his commentary on Dharmavidhi in Saṁ. 1286 ; cf. Pet. V. A. p. 115.

(V) कालिकाचार्यकथा (अणुसरि आगमवयणं) This version is in about 132 Prākṛta stanzas. Saṅgha Bhandar, Patan, 82 (1; a palm-leaf ms. of the Kalpasūtra); PAS. 221 (This also is a plam-leaf ms. of the Kalpasutra) ; Brown, p. 28. and Patan Cat. I. pp 147 (quotaion) ; 372 ; 406 ; (ms. dated Saṁvat 1377).

(VI) कालिकाचार्यकथा (पडिसिद्धंपि कुणंतो) this version is almost wholly identical with No. (V). JA. 60 (4 ; a palm-leaf ms. of the Kalpasūtra); PRA. No. 1294 ; cf. Brown, p. 29.

(VII) कालिकाचार्यकथा (उत्पत्तिविगम) The version consists of about 88 Sanskrit stanzas, composed by Vinayacandra, pupil of Ratnasiṁhasūri and author of Kalpasūtra-ṭikā (No. 7 in Saṁ. 1325). Ahmedabad, Lohar Pol Bhandar, 91 (3) ; PAZB. 21 (33) ; Saṅgha Bhandar, Patan, 5 (2 ; a palm-leaf ms. of the Kalpsūtra) ; cf. Brown, p. 29, and Patan Cat. I. p. 377 (ms. dated Saṁ 1364).

(VIII) कालिकाचार्यकथा (पञ्चम्यां विहितं पर्व) This version contains 52 Sanskrit Ślokas, which were composed by Maheśvarāsūri of the Pallivāla Gaccha in Saṁ. 1365, as an appendix to a ms. of the Kalpasūtra written at his advice, in the same year.

JA. 60 (3) = Pet I. A. p. 29 = PRA. No. 1296. Compare Brown, p. 30.

(IX) कालिकाचार्यकथा (श्रीसीमन्धरतीर्थेश) This is the version of the Prabhāvakacaritra. It contains 156 Sanskrit stanzas and is printed in the N. S. P. Edition of the Prabhāvakacaritra, at pp. 36-46. Compare Brown, p. 30.

(X) कालिकाचार्यकथा (श्रीवर्धमानपदपद्म) This version consists of 67 Sanskrit stanzas. See Brown, p. 31 (Bhavnagar ms. on paper).

(XI) कालिकाचार्यकथा (पर्वेदं भाद्रपञ्चम्याः) This version contains 74 Sanakrit stanzas, composed in Saṁ. 1325 by a layman called Pradyumna at the request of Hariprabhasūri ; cf. Patan Cat. I. p. 151 for quotations etc. PAS. No. 234 (a palm-leaf ms. of the Kalpasūtra).

(XII) कालिकाचार्यकथा (अत्थित्थ भारहे वासे) This version is in about 100 Prākṛta staznas, composed by Bhāvadevasūri, who describes himself as a descendant of Kālikācārya himself. This version is edited by Leumann at ZDMG, Vol. 37, p. 493ff., and by Brown, Story of Kālaka, p. 87 ff.

AM. 206 ; DA. 18 (19) ; JA. 89 (8) ; Jesal. No. 386 ; Limdi. No. 89 (ms. dated Saṁ. 1538) ; 263 (ms. dated Saṁ. 1481) ; 930 ; Pet. I. A. p. 30 ; RAS. London (ms. dated Saṁ. 1461, mentioned by Brown).

(XIII) कालिकाचार्यकथा (नयरंमि धरावासे) This version contains 57 Prakṛta stanzas composed in Saṁ. 1389 by Dharmaprabhasūri. Edited by Brown, at Story of Kālaka, p. 92 ff., and also by Leumann at ZDMG., vol. 37, p. 505 ff. Ahmedabad, Lohar Pol Bhandar, 38 (3) ; (a ms. of the Kalpasūtra) ; Cambay, Vijayanemisūri Bhandar, 181 (2) ; PAZB. (19 ; dated Saṁ. 1502) ; for the other three European mss., see Brown, p. 93. The following mss. also are very probably of this version :—Limdi. Nos. 332 ; 598 (dated Saṁ. 1472) ; 774 ; and 930. The two middle ones are illustrated with beautiful pictures.

(XIV) कालिकाचार्यकथा (श्रीवीरवाक्यानुमतं) This version contains 65 Sanskrit stanzas. It is published at the end of the Kalpasūtra in the DLP. Series, No. 18, Bombay, 1914. It is also edited from 11 mss. by Brown, Story of Kālaka, p. 98 ff. See also Buh. II. No. 337. In addition to these 12, I may mention only one more ms., namely, Limdi. No. 153. See also Patan Cat. I. p. 411 No. 3-2.

(XV) कालिकाचार्यकथा (हयपडिणीयपयावो) This version is in 120 Prākrta Gāthās. Edited from nine mss. in his Story of Kālaka, p. 71 ff. In addition to these 9 mss., the following Limdi. mss. also seem to contain this version:--Limdi. Nos. 679; 680; 930 ; cf. also AM. 397 ; Pet. I. A. p. 17 ; III. A. p. 225.

(XVI) कालिकाचार्यकथा (हयपडिणी ओ कइतिथ्य) This version is in 105 Prākrta stanzas and was probably composed by Dharmakirti (afterwards Dharmaghoṣasūri), pupil of Vidyānanda and Devendra Sūris of the Tapā Gaccha. A single ms. of this version is so far known and it is JA. 5 (2). Compare, Brown, p. 33 (No. 15). The information which I have given above and which is not given by Brown was obtained by me from a Praśasti copied out from this ms., for Dr. T. L. Shah, of Baroda, where the following line occurs:-- Vidyānandarisīnam yo Devindo (ya) Dhammakittidharo.

(XVII) कालिकाचार्यकथा (अवन्तिविसए उज्जेणीनयरिए) This version is from Bhadreśvara's Kathāvali. It is in Prakrta and is written in mixed verse and prose. This is published with an analysis by Brown at Story of Kālaka, pp. 102-107.

(XVIII) कालिकाचार्यकथा (प्रणम्य श्रीगुरुं) This prose version in Sanskrit was composed by Samayasundara, pupil of Sakalacandra of the Kharatara Gaccha in Saṁ. 1666. It is published along with the Kalpasūtra-Kalpalatā in the Jinadattasūri Pustakoddhāra Fund, Series, Surat, 1939. Besides the two mss. mentioned by Brown, p. 34, the following may be recorded :—Baroda. No. 2994 ; Bik. No. 1488 ; BK. No. 1242 ; Cal. X. No. 57 ; Chani. No. 913 ; Kaira. B. 112 ; PAPS. 48 (93) ; PRA. Nos. 202 ; 476.

The following versions, the accuracy of information regarding which cannot be guarranteed, are not used by Prof. Brown in his Story of Kālaka :—

DC. p. 1 identifies this with the same author's Dhanyaśālibhadracaritra through mistake. My Praśasti clearly says that the Krtapuṇyacaritra was composed in Sam. 1305 (baṇaśūnyānalāgnau saṅkhyebde mārgaśīrṣasitadaśamadine) at Jesalmir, while the Dhanyaśālibhadracaritra was composed at the same place in Sam. 1285 (śaravasuravisaṅkhye) by Pūrṇabhadra. JG. has committed the same mistake.

(1) Avacūrṇi by Guṇaratnasūri, pupil of Devasundarasūri of the Tapā Gaccha. It was composed for Jñānasāgarasūri, the eldest of Devasundara's pupils ; cf. Pet. VI. A. p. 53, lines 8-9. I think we have to read Jñānasāgarakṛte for Jñānasāgarakṛta which latter however, seems to be the reading of at least three mss. and has given rise to the idea that Jñānasāgara was the author. JG. p. 122, has committed this mistake. BK. No. 724 ; BO. p. 15 ; Chani. No. 952 ; DA. 56 (11-16; 26 ; 96-97) ; DB. 33 (21; 22) ; Hamsa. No. 1745 ; JHA. 42 ; Kaira. A. 100 ; Kaira. B. 33 ; Kath. √गणधरसार्धशतक in 150 Gāthās composed by Jinadattasūri, pupil of Jinavallabhasūri of the Kharatara Gaccha. See Bhand. III. A. p. 45ff, where a brief summary of the contents is given. The work describes the lives of the Jain pontiffs of the Kharatara Gaccha. The author says that the title Kharatara was first conferred upon Jineśvara, the pupil and successor of Vardhamānasūri and the Gaccha owes its name to this fact. This is, however, repeatedly controverted by the followers of the Tapā Gaccha. The work is published as an Appendix in Gaek. O. Series, No. 27, Baroda, 1927. It is also published with the commentary of Sarvarāja (No. 2) by Hiralal Hamsaraj, Jamnagar, 1916. AM. 258; 307; Baroda. No. 2106; Bhand. VI. No. 1142; BK. Nos. 387; 1928; Chani. गुरुतत्त्वप्रदीप This is another name of the Utsūtrakandakuddāla. Agra. No. 798 ; DA. 32 (23) ; Hamsa. No. 1386 ; PRA. No. 555 (this ms. is dated Saṁ. 1683. It was copied from another, at Patan. This latter was copied in great haste in Saṁ. 1606, by Vimalasāgara, Jñānvimala, Vinayasāgara and Vivekavimala Gaṇis. The cause of the haste is given in the Praśasti as follows:– When Dharmasāgaragaṇi composed his Tattvataraṅgiṇī at Nāradapurī, the Kharataras began to quarrel saying that they had been covertly criticised in the work. Dharmasāgara thereupon sent Vinayasagara to Patan to find out the old palm-leaf manuscript of Gurutattvapradīpa, which, he was sure, would support his point of contention. Vinayasagara went to Patan and did find the ms. at the house of Sadayavatsa Thākura. The Bṛhatcchālika Laiṅgikas, when they knew this, demanded the book immediately, saying that it belonged to them. Vinayasāgara then, with the help of his friends very hastily copied it and returned the manuscript to them. Afterwards the substance of this work was added in a separate chapter to his Tattvataraṅgiṇī by Dharmasāgaragaṇi. The author of the Praśasti is Vivekavimalagaṇi) ; SG. No. 1612 (foll. 84).

चन्द्रप्रज्ञप्तिसूत्र is the 7th Upāṅga of the Jain canon. In its present form it is wholly identical with the Sūryaprajñaptisūtra. W. Schubring, Lehre Der Jainas, p. 71, thinks that it is possible to assume that the last 11 chapters of this Sūtra, where the moon and the stars occupy a prominent place, formed the orginal Candraprajñaptisūtra.

Prākṛta and contains encyclopaedic information on medicinal formulae, spells and amulets and such other kindred matter. The author tells us how he could not study Yoniprābhṛta from his Guru who was displeased with him (this must have been a Vidyāguru and not the regular Dīkṣāguru) and hence he studied the subject from some one else and composed the present work. The Poona ms. namely Pet. IV. No. 1242 is incomplete and contains only the last nine chapters (cf. the quotations at Pet. IV.A. pp. 86-87). The last 9 chapters (35–43) are printed at Bombay and there exist two mss. of the first 34 chapters, one at Kekaḍī and another at Nasirabad. See for the information, Anekānta, II. pp. 685ff. and also pp. 611ff.; 485ff.

जम्बूद्वीपसमास in 88 Prākṛta Gāthās (acc. to JA. note) by Umāsvāti Vācaka. This however is not seen by me. According to K. P. Mody, it is writteu in Sanskrit prose and is divided into 4 chapters. He has published the same in the Appendix to his edition of the Tatvārtha Sūtra in the Bibliotheca Indica Series, Calcutta, 1903. The commentator also is Vijayasiṁhasūri (and not Śrīvijaya), pupil of Haribhadrasūri of the Candra Gaccha. For this Sanskrit Jambūdvīpasamāsa, compare JG. p. 121 and Bt. No. 125. It is also called Kṣetrasamāsa.✓It is published with the commentary in the Satyavijaya Granthamālā, Ahmedbad, 1922. BK. No. 16 ;

जिनेन्द्रकल्याणाभ्युदय also called Arhatpratiṣṭhā or Jainendrakalyāṇābhyudaya or Pratiṣṭhāsāra, was composed in Śaka 1241 at Ekaśilā, during the reign of King Rudrakumāra, by Appayyārya, pupil of Puṣpasena. This is a work on the ritualistic worship of Jina and the author quotes or mentions the following writers on the same subject :— Āśādhara, Ekasandhi, Indranandin, Guṇabhadra, Jinasena, Pūjyapāda, Vasunandin, Vīrācārya and Hastimalla (compare CPI. p. 36 and Intro. to Chedapiṇḍa published in MDG. Really speaking, it is a sort of Cūrṇi or Vivaraṇa as the Bṛhaṭṭippanikā 40 (5) calls it. Tilakācārya probably bases his commentary on this ; cf. Pet. V. A. p. 131, v. 4. जैनतर्कवार्तिकवृत्ति also called Vicārakalikā (cf. Patan Cat. I. p. 87), of Sāntisūri. The author of the text i. e. Jainatarka, is said to be Siddhasena Divākara; that of the Vārtika is unknown and that of the Vṛtti on it is Śāntisūri, pupil of Vardhamānasūri. The text of the Vārtika consists 55 Ślokas in all, divided into four chapters. It is published with the commentary, in the Pandit, Benares, 1917. DC. p. 22; Jesal. No. 831; Kundi. No 173. Also cf. Patan Cat. I. pp. 41; 86, 299; according to the latter authority, the Vārtika is a commentary on Siddhasena's Nyāyāvatāra (s. v.).

(II) जैनेन्द्रप्रक्रिया by Pandit Vaṁśīdhara, a very recent writer who models his work on the Siddhāntakaumudī of Bhaṭṭoji. This is mentioned in the introduction to the edition of Guṇanandin's works.

(III) जैनेन्द्रप्रक्रिया of Meghavijaya. Tera. 11. This is doubtful. Perhaps this is a copy of the author's Candraprabhāvyākaraṇa (s. v.)

(I) जैनेन्द्रयज्ञविधि is a work on the worship of the Jinas, cast in the form of the ceremonial Prayogas of the Brāhmaṇas, composed by Śrutasāgara, pupil of Vidyānandin, successor of Devendrakīrti; cf. Bhand. IV. p. 117. Bhand. IV. No. 293.

(II) जैनेन्द्रयज्ञविधि by Abhayanandin. See Śreyovidhāna. SGR. IV. p. 68.

जैनेन्द्रव्याकरण also called Pañcādhyāyī from its five chapters, by Devanandin otherwise known as Pūjyapāda. It is in two recensions. The longer one contains about 700 Sūtras more than the shorter one. Abhayanandin's commentary is on the shorter recension, while Somadeva comments on the longer one which he ascribes to Guṇanandin as is clear from the introductory and concluding verses in his commentary. Pañcavastu (s v.) is only a recast or a Prakriyā by one Śrutakīrti of the shorter recension, while Jainendraprakriyā (see No. I above) is a similar recast of the longer one. The six authors i. e. Bhūtabali, Śrīdatta, Yaśobhadra, Prabhācandra, Siddhasena and Samantabhadra quoted in the Jainendra are considered as fictitious names by some, but the more probable view is that they were merely well known Jain authors, who used the particular grammatical forms and not necessarily old Grammarians. ज्ञानादित्यप्रकरण in 84 Gāthās in Prākṛta composed by Haribhadrasūri. This is translated as Nānācitra by Weber. II. p. 987 and Peterson, Reports, IV. Index, p. CXXXVIII from the Prākrta word Nāṇāitta. The work contains philosophical advice and hence the name Jñānāditya 'sun of knowledge.' But it is quite possible that it derived its name from the first words of v. 2; cf. Patan Cat. I. p. 366. From this it would seem that Nanācitta (s. v.) is the correct title. JA. 25 (11); JG. pp. 99; 178. Pet. I. A. p. 48; Prabandhakośa. 25. See Nānācitta.

(I) ज्ञानार्णव on Jain Philosophy, consisting of 2077 Ślokas divided into 42 chapters, composed by Śubhacandra, an old Digambara writer who quotes Jinasena and Akalaṅka, but is different from his namesake who composed his Pāṇḍava Purāṇa in Saṁ. 1608. This is evident because Aśādhara (about Saṁ. 1290) quotes a few verses from Jñānārṇava in his com. on Iṣṭopadeśa; cf. Upadhye, ABORI. Vol. XIII. p. 38. तत्त्वार्थसार (Graṁ. 724) by Amṛtacandrasūri. It contains 618 Sanskrit Slokas, divided into 9 chapters, which discuss the seven Padārthas of the Jainas. It is published by Pannalal Vamsidhara in the Sanātana Jaina Granthamālā No. 1, Bombay, 1905. AD. No. 141; Bhand. V. No. 1067 (dated Saṁ. 1584); Bt. तत्त्वार्थसारदीपक (Graṁ. 1800) by Sakalakīrti, successor of Padmanandin. It is a work in 12 chapters on the principles of Jain philosophy. For a summary of contents, cf. Bhand. IV. p. 106 ff. The work is not a commentary on the Tattvārthasūtra, as may appear from its title. Bhand. IV. No. 294; CP. p. 648; DLB. 21; Hum. 67; JG. p. 90; Idar. 43 (2 copies, one dated Saṁ. 1576; Pet. IV. No. 1426; SG. No. 2497; Strass. p. 302.

(I) तत्त्वार्थसूत्र also called Jinakalpi Sūtra. It contains 10 chapters and a total of 107 Sūtras (Be :– saddrṣtijñānavrttātmā). It is ascribed to one Brhat Prabhācandra. For the only mauscriprt, see Anekānta, Vol. III. pp. 393 ff., 433 ff., where the text is wholly published with a Hindi translation and explanation.

(II) तत्त्वार्थसूत्र also called Tattvārthādhigamasūtra, contains in ten chapteas, the principal doctrines of the Jainas. It is claimed by both the Digambaras and the Śvetāmbaras. For a summary, compare S. Vidyabhusana, History o' Indian Logic, p. 168 ff. The author is Umasvatı (Umāsvāmin according to the Digambaras ; but this is incorrect ; cf. Anekānta, I. p. 269–270). The Svopajñabhaṣya expresses views which are opposed to those of the Digambaras ; hence, they do not consider it to be the work of the author of the Sūtras. Winternitz, History, II. p. 579, doubts 'whether the Digambaras are justified in claiming him as one of their own.' All authorities agree that he belongs to a period when the difference between the two sects had not yet become very sharp. It is to be noted however, that while there are only 2 or 3 Śvetambara commentaries on the Sūtra, there are as many as 15 to 20 Digambara ones on it. The text of the Digambara commentators has 367 Sūtras, while that of the Śvetambara ones contains only 344 Sūtras ; cf. Anekānta, I. p. 587 ff. For a lucid discussion on the text of the Sūtra and the authorship of the Svopaiña Bhāṣya etc. compare A. M. Ghatage, B. U. J. Nov. 1935, p. 105. Also see Jainasatyaprakāśa, Vol. VI. p. 155 ff., for Prof. J. C. Jain's views on the matter. His contention is that the Svopajña Bhāṣya was composed by Umasvāti himself and was known as such to the author of the Rājavārtika. Both the text and the author's own Bhāṣya are published in the RJS. Series, Bombay, 1906, as also in the Bibliotheca Indica Series, Calcutta, 1903–1905 and in the Arhatamataprabhākara Series, Poona, 1926. They are again carefully edited together with the commentary of Siddhasena (and also Umāsvāti's own Saṁbandha Kārikās, 31 in number, accompanied by the commentary of Devagupta and Siddhasena at the beginning), by Prof. H. R. Kapadia, in the DLP. Series, Nos. 67 and 76, Bombay, 1926-1930. The text with the Sarvārthasiddhi of Pūjyapāda is published by Kallapa Nitve, Kolhapur, Śake 1839 (2nd ed.); with Rājavārtika of Akalaṅka in the Sanātana Jaina Granthamālā No. 4, Benares, 1915 ; and with the Ślokavartika of Vidyānandin by Mohanlal Shastri, in the Natharanga Jaina Granthamāla, 1918. It is also edited with introduction, translation and notes in English, in the Sacred Books of the Jainas, No. 2, by J. L. Jaini, Arrah, 1920. It is translated into German and explained by H. Jacobi, in ZDMG., Vol. 60, pp. 287, 512. AD. Nos. 4 ; 23 ; 41 ; 43 ; 51 ; 52 ; 112 ; 135 ; 149 ; 170 ; 186 ; Agra. Nos. 799 to 804 ; AK. Nos. 288 to 300 ; 303 ; Bengal. (1) Svopajña Bhāṣya (Graṁ. 2142). The Digambaras do not admit that this Bhasya is by the author of the Sūtra, whom they call Umāsvāmin and not Umasvāti. It contains views that are opposed to those of the Digambaras. Agra. No. 802; Bhand. VI. Nos. 1162-1163; BO. p. 32; Buh. VI. No 606; DB. 15 (3; 4); JA. 87 (1; a good copy dated Saṁ. 1445); Jesal. (3) Ṭika by Siddhasenagaṇi, pupil of Bhasvāmin, pupil of Siṁhasura etc. Among others, he quotes Siddhiviniścaya and Sṛṣṭiparīkṣā; cf. ABORI. vol. XIII. p. 335. Buh. VI. No. 595; DB. 15 (1; 2); JA. 87 (1; dated Saṁ. 1445): JHA. 34; Kath. No. 1267; Limdi. No. 601; Mitra. X. p. 97; Pet. III. A. p. 83 (quotation); V. No. 703; PAPS. 54 (2); 58 (1); SA. (4) Laghuvṛtti begun by Haribhadra and completed by Yaśobhadra, his pupil (Graṁ. 11000). This is quoted by Siddhasena, commentator of Pravacanasāroddhara (DLP. ed. p. 337) and is called the Mūla Ṭikā; cf. Anekānta, I. p. 581. Bhand. VI. No. 1161; BK. No. 132; Buh. VIII. No. 369; Chani. (5) Ṭikā by Nāgara Vācaka (Graṁ. 2490). PAP. 68 (11). This is the same as the Svopajña Bhaṣya. Umāsvati was called Vacaka or Nagara Vacaka.

(6) Ṭikā by Malayagiri. This is alluded to by himself in his commentary on the Prajñāpanasūtra (A. S. ed. p. 298); cf. Anekanta, I. p. 582

(7) Ṭikā by Yośovijaya Upādhyāya. It is incomplete, cf. Anekanta, I. p. 596.

(8) Gandhahastimahabhaṣya of Samantabhadra (Graṁ. 84000). JG. p. 88. This appears to be a mistake. Samantabhadra's Bhāṣya on the Karma and Kaṣāya Prābhṛtas seems to have been mistaken for this; cf. JH. Vol. 14, pp. 109-117. But Laghusamantabhadra in his commentary on Aṣṭasahastrī mentions clearly that Samantabhadra composed the Gandhahastimahābhāṣya on Umāsvāti's Tattvārthasūtra; cf. Anekānta, I. p. 291. Even Hastimalla in his Vikrāntakaurava Nataka similarly ascribes it to Samantabhadra. Also cf. J. R. Mukhtar, Samantabhadra, p. 220.

त्रिभङ्गीसार by Nemicandra Saiddhāntika. The work consists of the following parts :– (1) Āsravatribhaṅgī, (2) Bandhatribhaṅgī, (3) Udayodīraṇatribhaṅgī, (4) Sattātribhaṅgī, (5) Sattvasthānatribhaṅgī, (6) Bhāvatribhaṅgī. As is seen from Vel. No. 1613 however, the different parts belong to different authors. The first i. e. Āsravatribhaṅgī contains 63 Gāthās and is ascribed to Śrutamuni. The second i. e. Bandhatribhaṅgī in 44 Gāthās is ascribed to Mādhavacandra, pupil of Nemicandra. The third i. e. Udayodiraṇa or Udayatribhaṅgī in 73 Gāthās is ascribed to Nemicandra. The fourth i. e. Sattātribhaṅgī in 35 Gāthās is also by Nemicandra. The fifth i. e. Sattvasthānatribhaṅgī in 37 Gāthās is by Kanakanandin ; this is accompanied by Nemicandra's commentary at Vel. No. 1613. The last i. e. Bhāvatribhaṅgī in 116 Gāthās is again by Śrutamuni. See under the different heads. The first and the last of these are published in the MDG. Series, No. 20. For quotations

दशाश्रुतस्कन्ध is the fourth Chedasūtra. It contains ten Uddeśas, the 8th of which is called the Kalpasūtra. See Schubring, Lehre der Jainas, p. 76. The Kalpasūtra (s. v.) is separately published with commentaries very often ; but the Daśāśrutaskandha as a whole is not yet published so far as I know. The whole is ascribed to Bhadrabhāhu, who is said to have extracted it from the 9th Pūrva. The Sūtra is also known as Ācāradaśā, owing to its 10 books on the conduct of the Jaina monks. Agra. द्रव्यसंग्रह is a brief exposition of Jain philosophy in 58 Prākṛta stanzas by Nemicandra, a Digambara writer. See Vel. No. 1615. It is published with Brahmadeva's commentary in the RJS. Series, No. 10, Bombay, 1919 and in the Sulabha Jaina Granthāvali, No.1, Calcutta 1921. It is also edited with the same commentary and introduction, translation and notes in English, by S. G. Ghoshal, Arrah, 1917, in the Sacred Books of the Jainas, Vol. I. The author lived in the 10th Century A. D. From Strass. p. 304, it would seem that the work existed also in a shorter recension of 26 verses which was composed by the author himself earlier. AD. Nos. 73; 165; 173; Agra. (I) द्व्याश्रयकाव्य or 'the Poem with a double purpose' is the first of Hemacandra's 'Dvyāśrayakāvyakumārapālacarita'. The whole poem is intended to describe the life of King Kumārapāla of Gujrat and at the same time to illustrate the rules of Sanskrit and Prākṛta Grammar, contained in the author's Śabdānuśāsana or the Siddhahemacandram. The first part in Sanskrit which illustrates Sanskrit grammar i. e., the first seven Adhyāyas of the Haimaśabdānuśāsana, contains 20 cantos. It describes the Chālukya Dynasty and the life of Siddharāja Jayasiṁha, and is generally known by the name Dvyāśrayakāvya. The second part usually known as Kumārapālacarita (s. v.), illustrates Prākṛta grammar i. e., the 8th Adhyāya of the Śabdānuśāsana and contains 8 cantos and is naturally written in Prākṛta. Dvyāśrayakāvya is edited with the commentary of Abhayatilakagaṇi by Prof. Kathavate in the Bombay S. Series, 1915 to 1921. Agra. No. 2897 ; Bhand. VI. No. 1347 ; BK. No. 141 ; BO. pp. 59 ; 72 ; Buh. No. 844, the Vṛtti was corrected by Pradyumna, pupil of Kanakaprabhasūri of the Devānanda Gaccha. This would bring Munideva down to the 14th century of the Saṁvat Era. Besides his Śāntināthacaritra was composed in Saṁ. 1322, in which also he was assisted by the same Pradyumna; cf. Pet. I. A. p. 4. This commentary is based on No. (1); cf. Patan Cat. नन्दीसूत्र is a work of a comparatively late origin and mentions almost all the Jain canonical works. Malayagiri ascribes it to Devardhigaṇi himself. But its account of the canonical works does not agree with their present form which we owe to Devardhigaṇi. This is one of the two independent Āgamas outside the group, the second being the Anuyogadvārasūtra. It is published with Malayagiri's commentary in the Āgamodaya Samiti Series, No. 16, Bombay, 1924. An older edition of the same commentary is by Ray Bahadur Dhanpatsimha, Benares, Saṁ. 1936. The text with Jinadāsa's Cūrṇi (No. 1) and Haribhadra's commentary (No. 3) on it, is published by R. K. Saṁsthā, Rutlam, 1928.

न्यायार्थमञ्जूषा composed by Hemahaṁsa, pupil of Ratnaśekharasūri of the Tapā Gaccha in Saṁ. 1516. This is a commentary by Hemahaṁsa on Nyāya's or the grammatical axioms which are 141 in number. Also see Haimavyākaraṇa–Nyāyasaṅgrha Of these, 57 were collected and put forth by Hemacandra himself at the end of his Bṛhadvṛtti on his own Śabdānuśāsana and the remaining 84 were put forth by Hemahaṁsa. These all he calls by the name Nyāyasaṅgrahasūtra. The commentary is divided into four chapters. It mentions an earlier Vṛtti called Prajñāpanā on the first 57 Nyāyas. It is published by Harsacandra Bhurabhai, Benares, Vir. Saṁ. 2437 and also in the YJG. Series, No. 45, Bhavanagar. For quotations etc., compare Vel. No. 76. Agra. Nos. 2608 to 2611 ; Bendall. Nos.

पञ्चग्रन्थीव्याकरण composed in Saṁ. 1080 by Buddhisāgarasūri, pupil of Vardhamānasūri. It is also called Buddhisāgaravyākaraṇa or Śabdalakṣma. In his Pramālakṣaṇa, Jineśvara, his spiritual brother, says that this Vyākaraṇa and his Pramālakṣaṇa were composed because people said that the Jains had no Pramā and Śabda Lakṣmas of their own. He further says that the Vyakaraṇa was in verse and was composed after consulting Pāṇini, Cāndra, Jainendra, and Viśrānta (?) Vyākaraṇas and the Durga-ṭikā. See JH. Vol. 13, p. 421. It is alluded to in Saṁ. 1095, by Dhaneśvara in his Surasundarikatha ; in Saṁ. 1120 by Abhayadevasūri in his Pañcāśaka-Vṛtti ; in Saṁ. 1125 by Jinacandra in his Saṁvegaraṅgaśālā ; in Saṁ. 1139 by Guṇacandra in his Mahāvīracaritra ; by Jinadattasūri in his Gaṇadharasārdhaśataka ; by Padmaprabha in his Kunthunāthacaritra and lastly in Saṁ. 1334 by Prabhācandra in his Prabhāvakacaritra ; cf. पद्मानन्दकाव्य also called Caturviṁśatijinacaritra or Jinendracaritra composed by Amaracandra, pupil of Jinadattasūri of the Vāyaḍa Gaccha. The Jinendracaritra composed by our author is in two recensions. The one which is shorter (JA. 72·1) contains about 1802 Ślokas divided into 24 chapters and the other (JA. 72·2) which is longer, contains 6281 Ślokas. The longer recension contains 19 cantos and is called Padmānanda Kāvya. It is critically edited by Prof. H. R. Kapadia in the Gaek. O. Series, No. 58, Baroda, 1932. The shorter Jinaendra-Caritra is published in the Appendix Ka of the Gaek. O. S. editon. The longer recension is called Padmānanda Kāvya, because it was composed at the special request of the minister Padma. The shorter Jinendracaritra contains the lives of all the 24 Jinas, while the longer one contains only the life of the first Jina. At the end of the 18th Sarga, it is described as Vṛṣabhadevacaritābhidhano grantaḥ. BK. No. 32; DB. 25 (1; 2); JA. 72 (1; 2); Jesal. (I) पार्श्वनाथचरित्र (Graṁ. 9000) by Devabhadragaṇi, pupil of Sumati Upādhyaya and Prasannacandra, both pupils of Abhayadevasūri. It is in Prākṛta and contains five chapters and was composed in Saṁ. 1168 at Bharoch. Very curiously this work is mentioned in the Praśasti of an earlier work of the author i. e., Kathāratnakośa; cf. Pet. III. A. p. 140. This is probably because this Praśasti was composed later. Bt. No. 277; DC. p. 37; JA. 20 (1); Jesal. No. 25; JG. p. 244; Kundi. No. 229; PAS. No. 304 (dated Saṁ. 1199); Patan. (II) पार्श्वनाथचरित्र also called Pārśvanātha-Daśabhavacaritra, containing 2564 Prākṛta Gāthās. Anonymous. Bt. No. 278; JA. p. 245.

(III) पार्श्वनाथचरित्र by Sarvānandasūri, pupil of Guṇabhadrasūri of the Jālihara Gaccha. This is mentioned in Saṁ. 1254, by the author's grand-pupil Devasūri, (pupil of Dharmghoṣa), in his Padmaprabhacaritra (s. v.). This is different from the next.

(IV) पार्श्वनाथचरित्र (Be:- om namo viśvamitrāya; Graṁ. 5278) composed in Saṁ. 1276, by Māṇikyacandra, pupil of Sāgaracandra, pupil of Nemicandra of the Rāja Gaccha. The poem is written in Sanskrit and contains ten cantos. JA. 36 (1); Pet. III. A. p. 157 (quotation).

(V) पार्श्वनाथचरित्र in five cantos composed in Saṁ. 1291 by Sarvānandasūri, pupil of Guṇaratnasūri, pupil and successar of Śīlabhadra &c. Another work of the anthor is Candraprabhacaritra (No. III) composed in Saṁ. 1302. Bt. No. 274 ; JG. p. 245 ; PAS. No. 313 ; also cf. Patan Cat. I. pp. 72-73 (quotations).

(VI) पार्श्वनाथचरित्र (Graṁ. 6400) composed in Saṁ. 1412, (ravivisvavarṣe, but cf. Patan Cat. I. p. 166-168 for a ms. dated Saṁ. 1379 of this work according to the title given on p. 166. This however, may not be correct.) by Bhāvadevasūri, pupil of Jinadevasūri, descendant of Kālikācārya. It is in eight chapters. It is published in the YJG. series No. 32 Benares, 1912. भगवतीसूत्र also called Vivāhaprajñapti (viyāhapannatti) or Vyākhyāprajñapti, is the 5th Aṅga of the Jain Agama. It is published with the commentary of Abhayadeva in the Agamodaya Samiti Series, Nos. 12 to 14, Bombay, 1918-21 and also by M. R. Metha, Bombay, Saṁ. 1914. Book XV. (only the story of Gosala) is translated into English by Hoernle in the appendix to his translation of the Upāsakadaśāsūtra. An older edition of the Sūtra, with the commentary of Abhaya-deva by Ray Dhanpatisimha Bahadur Benares, 1882, also exists. Another similar edition was published by Pujabhai Hirachand in the Raychanda Jināgama Sangraha, Ahmedabad. This latter is I believe still available. For contents etc. cf. I. A. Vol. 19, p. 62ff. Agra. Nos. 56 to 77 ; AM. 2 ; 3 ; 26 ; 45 ; 46 ; 147; 194 ; 289 ; 301 ; 303 ; 304 ; 336 ; 343 ; 383 ; Bengal. मूलाचार See Ācārāṅga Sūtra (II) by Vatterakacārya. It is regarded as a sort of compilation by a little known author called Vatteraka, who is surely different from Kundakunda, according to Mr. Paramananda Jaina Shastri. He points out how it contains a large number of Gāthās from (1) Kundakunda's works, (2) Āvaśyakaniryukti of Bhadrabāhu and (3) the Aradhanā of Sivakoti among others. See Anekānta, Vol. II. pp. 319-324.

मूलाचारप्रदीप by Sakalakīrti. It is in 12 chapters and is probably based on Vatteraka's work; for quotations, cf. SGR. V. p.52 ff. For mss., see Acārāṅga Sūtra (No. II) Tika No. (3). The work seems to have been composed in Saṁ. 1481. See SGR. V. p. 56. Also see PR. No. 10.

राजप्रश्नीयसूत्र is the second Upāṅga, of the Jain Canon. It is published with Malayagiri's commentary by Ray Bahadur Dhanapatisiṁha, Callcatta, 1880 and in the Āgamodaya Samiti Series No. 42, Bombay, 1925. The Sanskrit rendering of the original word Rāyapasenaijja is doubtful; Malayagiri explains the name by 'Rājapraśneṣu bhavaṁ'. Siddhasenagaṇi in his com. on the Tattvārthasūtra renders the title by 'Rājaprasenakīya'. Evidently the tradition does not know the correct meaning of the name of the Sūtra; cf. Weber, Ind. Stud. XVI. p. 382 ff; Annals. BORI. Vol. 14, p. 149; W. Schubring, Lehre Der Jainas, pp. 67; 68. Agra. Nos. 162-163; 165-170; AM. 73; 110; 137; 155; 293; 360; 381; Baroda. Nos. 1777; 2147; 2908; Bengal. शृङ्गारवैराग्यतरङ्गिणी in 46 Sanskrit stanzas which are capable of a double interpretation by Somaprabhācārya, pupil of Vijayasiṁhasūri of the Bṛhad Gaccha. Winternitz, History, II. p. 573, f. n. is not right in assuming that it was originally a Shaivaite poem from the word 'śiva' (v.33 and 39), since it is too comonly used in the sense of Mokṣa, by the Jainas. श्रावकप्रज्ञप्ति (Be :– arihante vanditta) in 405 Kārikās composed by Umāsvāti Vācaka. Edited by K. P. Mody, Bombay, Saṁ. 1961; the editor thinks that the author of Śrāvakaprajñpati is Haribhadra, the commentator himself, since the 2nd and 114th Kārikās in it are ascribed to him by Abhayadevasūri in his commentary on the Pañcāśaka and by Lāvaṇyavijaya in his commentary on v. 56 of Dravyasaptati respectively. The mss. however, usually ascribe it to Umāsvāti, though the Hamsa Note ascribes it to Haribhadra Bhand. V. No. 1233; BK. No. 46; Cham. सप्तक्षेत्रीनामकथा (Graṁ. 7200) composed in Saṁ. 1178 by Guṇākarasūri. Bt. No. 328 ; JG. p. 235.

सप्ततिकासूत्र is a work on Karman, consisting of about 70 Gāthās and ascribed to Candrarsi Mahattara. It is generally appended to Devendra's Karmagrantha. Devendra seems to have added a few (about 20) stanzas to the original and perhaps also commented on it; see below, Com. No. (8). It is published with Abhayadeva's Bhāṣya (No. 3) and Merutuṅga's commentary on it (No. 6), in the JDPS. Series, No. 41, Bhavnagar, 1919. Baroda. No. 3013; Bhand. V. (1) Cūrṇi in Prākṛta. No mss. of this Cūrṇi are available. Yet it is the basis of the commentaries of Abhayadeva and Malayagiri, as they themselves acknowledge. Even Bt. No. 114 says that no mss. of it are available. Bt. No. 115 makes a distinction between this Cūrṇi and the Prākṛta commentary by Candragaṇi Mahattara. But perhaps the two may be identical. JG. p. 119 mentions however, a few mss. of this Cūrṇi.

(2) Prākṛta Ṭikā (Graṁ. 2300) composed by Candragaṇi Mahattara. Bt. No. 115. Is this author's own commentary? cf. BO. p. 93 (Karmagranthavṛtti).

(3) Prākṛta Bhāṣya (Be:- namiūṇa mahāvīram) in about 190 Gāthās, ascribed to Abhayadeva (probably from the last Gāthā) who says it is based on the old Cūrṇi. Buh. IV. No. 210; DA. 53 (31; 32; 33; 34); DB. 32 (19 to 22); Limdi. No. 809; Pet. III. A. p. 218; SA. No. 444. Perhaps Buh. IV. No. 210 is a copy of the same.

(4) Prākṛta Tippana (Be:-sugaigamasaralasaraṇim) consisting of about 547 (448 - DC. p. 40) Gāthās acc. to Bt., composed by Rāmadevagaṇi, pupil of Jinavallabhasūri of the Kharatara Gaccha. Even this is based on the Cūrṇi as the author himself says; cf. DI. pp. 33-34. Bt. No. 116; DA. 54 (26); DC. p. 40, No. 319 (dated Saṁ. 1211); Jesal. No. 137.

(5) Ṭikā based on the old Cūrṇi and composed by Malayagiri. It is in Sanskrit (Graṁ. 3780). Baroda. No. 3013; Bengal. No. 2573; Buh. II. Nos. 248; 249; IV. No. 213; VII. No. 23; Chani. (7) Ṭikā composed by Devendrasūri of the Tapā Gaccha who supplemented the original text with 20 verses. It is mentioned by Guṇaratna; see next.

(8) Avacūrṇi based upon Devendra's commentary as the author himself says, and composed in Saṁ. 1459, by Guṇaratnasūri, pupil of Devasundarasūri of the Tapā Gaccha. As Guṇaratna was a descendent of Devendra, his information regarding Devendra's commentary must be regarded as reliable. JG. p. 119 ; PAP. 11 (19) ; PRA. No. 525.

सिद्धिभूपद्धति

(1) Tikā by Virasena. This is alluded to in Guṇabhadra's Uttarapurāṇa according to Bhandarkar, Report, IV. pp. 119-120, and 427. But this is probably a mistake. The Tikā that is meant is the Jayadhavalāṭikā and Siddhibhūpaddhati is 'the way to the world of salvation'. It is not a proper name.

सिद्धिविनिश्चय by Akalaṅka. It is quoted in the Niśithacūrṇi.

(1) Tikā by Anantakirti (Anantavirya), pupil of Ravibhadra. A ms. of this is possessed by the Jain Svetambara Conference, Bombay; cf. Anekānta I. p. 201; ABORI., Vol. XIII. p. 162. Siddhiviniścaya forms the Bṛhattrayī of Akalaṅka along with Nyāyaviniścaya and Pramāṇasaṅgraha.

सिद्धिश्रेयःसमुदयस्तोत्र of Siddhasena; see Sakrastava.

(I) सिन्दूरप्रकर also called Somaśataka and Sūktimuktāvali, is a collection of 100 Sanskrit stanzas on different subjects connected with Jainism. It was composed by Somaprabhacārya, pupil of Vijayasiṁhasūri of the Bṛhad Gaccha. Sometimes on the strength of a spurious concluding stanza, the work is ascribed to a Digambara Somadeva, pupil of Gaurasena. But Jalhaṇadeva in his Sūktimuktāvali (about 1250 A.D.) mentions Somaprabhācārya as the author of this collection of 100 verses from which he quotes a stanza beginning with 'lakṣmiḥ paśyati'. See Bhand. Report, VI. p. LIV. Besides, the Praśasti at the end of the Śatārthavṛtti ascribes this work to Somaprabha; cf. Introduction to Kumārapalapratibodha (Gaek. O. S.), p. 15. The text is published at Kavyamālā VII. p. 35 ff. The text with Harṣakirti's commentary is published at Ahmedabad, 1924. Also compare Winternitz, History, II. p. 573. Agra. Nos. 1318 to

सूर्यप्रज्ञप्तिसूत्र in 20 chapters is the fifth Upāṅga of the Jain Āgama (Graṁ. 2296). It is published with Malayagiri's commentary in the Āgamodaya Samiti Series, No. 24, Bombay, 1919. It contains the astronomical views of the Jainas. See Weber, Indische Studien, X. p. 254; G. Thibaut, JASB., Vol. 49, p. 107; p. 171; R. Sham Shastri, Journal of the Mythic Society, Vol. 15, p. 138; Vol. 16, p. 201 and Vol. 18, p. 32; Indian Historical Quarterly, Vol. VIII. p. 30; for the connection of this Sūtra with the Candraprajñapti, cf. W. Shubring, Lehre der Jainas, p. 71. Dr. Sham Shastri gives a brief translation of the Sūtra at places mentioned above. It is recently edited in Roman characters by J. F. Kohl, Stuttgart, 1937. In the Sthānāṅgasūtra IV. 1, the four Prajñaptis i. e. Candra, Sūrya, Jambūdvīpa and Dvīpasāgara, are described as Aṅgabāhyās; cf. Winternitz, History, II. p. 457 f. n. AM. 25; Baroda. p. 127 (I) छन्दोनुशासन of Jayakīrti. It is in eight chapters. It deals with Sanskrit metres in the first six chapters (Saṁjñā, Sama Vṛtta, Ardhasama Vṛtta, Viṣama Vṛtta, Jāti, and Miśra). In the 7th chapter, the Jātis employed in the Karṇāṭaka language are defined, while the 8th defines and describes the Prastāras. Among the Kannada works, Jayakīrti mentions Śṛṅgārapiṇḍa Kāvya, Karṇāteśvarakathā, Karṇaṭa-Mālatīmādhava and Karṇāṭa-Kumārasambhava. He also mentions Prabhusena, a Karṇāṭaka metrician (au of Gītikālaṁkāra ?). I have obtained a copy of the DC. ms. through the favour of Muni Shri Jinavijayaji.

p. 127 (IV) छन्दोनुशासन Jineśvarasūri. This is a short treatise on the Gāthā metre. It consists of 23 Gāthās only, and in spite of the name, discusses, rather briefly and without illustrations, the formation of only the Gāthā and a few other metres derived from it. I have obtained a copy of the text and its commentary through Muni Shri Jinavijayaji from the Badā Bhandar at Jesalmir, where the only palm-leaf ms. of the work exists. I shall soon publish this.
